Pity the peasants can't afford these things.

Otherwise, under the circumstances, I'd recommend we all get toggged up and go to the Equality Ball on Inauguration night.

So what shall we do on the 20th? Anything to keep us out of the limo traffic around the Hill...

Current Mood: irritated

I may be required to squire my ex-girlfriend to An Event. If the current boy is not available. Which apparently he may not be, due to counterscheduling issues.

(Still the best ex-boyfriend on earth. Yes, me. See the label?)

That label's printed in gold, sweetie. And everybody knows it. Your motives may be a bit scuffed, but your actions are sublime.

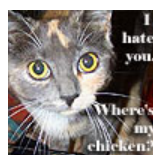

Oooh, wonder if you're bound for the Big One? Of course, Illinois is totally sold out, so we know who's making an appearance, so that's a hot ticket. Also, likely, Hawaii--pity my fam isn't poi-litical. Wonder if the Cong. Black Caucus's shindig will be graced? Or would that be too, you know, "his people"?

(Yes, I'm surly and cynical. Always am 'round this time every four years. What's wrong with "get sworn in, walk home," the old-fashioned way? Whose stupid idea was having a minister at the inauguration, anyway? And what do several dozen three-hundred-buck-a-ticket parties have to do with democracy?)

(Can you tell it used to be my job to stand in the corner at those things with a coily cord sticking out of my ear? I was once propositioned by an auto industry lobbyist while on duty.)

I'd love to know why the Cowboy's growly lately. I don't think he has anything in principle against inaugurations...

I might even let you borrow it sometimes. That is, if I were to happen to have one.

Oh, she's not so bad. That space alien in the cape has turned her head, is all.

When I decided to be born in February, I must not have realized I'd own a motorcycle. Winter storms play hell with...

Is this conversation grounds for workplace harassment? Not my half of it, of course.

It was likely any of the other possibilities.

I mean, who the hell did he vote for?

Some mysteries are best left unplumbed. (My honest guess would be the Dead White Male.)

I did pop over to Change.gov and send some disappointed webmail. Maybe if enough of us complain....

I'm going to do that. And I'm going to stick to one complaint. Even though that little dance step with Sec. of Interior made me nervous.

I'm kinda looking forward to having Janet Napolitano's picture out in the hall. But otherwise, why have the rumored appointments been so much better than the actual ones?
